DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hottmann (5,027,473) in view of Wronski (5,392,494).

'473 discloses the invention as claimed including a hinge lever (38) but for a cap fitted on an end of the hinge lever. '494 teaches a hinge having an end cap (23) attached to the end of the hinge lever (13) to provide a low friction engagement with the base while also providing good stability around the pivot point (col. 2, line 60-col. 3, line 6). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a cap as taught by '494 to the end of the hinge lever of '473 to provide a low friction engagement with other movable hinge part and a good stability around the pivot point.

3. Claims 2, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hottmann '473 in view of Broghammer (3,421,177).

'473 discloses the claimed invention but for a grommet fitted in the coupling hole. '177 teaches a hinge having a grommet (6) fitted in a coupling hole (2b) to supply lubricant and to prevent the moving hinge parts from contacting each other. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the coupling hole of '473 with a grommet of '177 to supply lubricant and to prevent the moving hinge parts from contacting each other.

4. Claims 3, 4, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hottmann '473 in view of Feldberg (2,635,281).

'473 discloses the invention as claimed but for the grease container. '281 teaches a hinge having a leakproof grease container attached to one end of the hinge pin to insure continuous and long lasting lubrication of the moving parts of the hinge structure. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to attach a grease container as taught by '281 to the end of the pin of '473 to insure a continuous and long lasting lubrication of the hinge parts.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed Mar. 1, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's primary argument is based on that none of the references discusses "a cap fitted on an end of the hinge lever where the coupling hole is formed, wherein the cap has a slot at a side thereof to receive the hinge lever, and has upper and lower through-holes formed at upper and lower walls of the cap to allow the auxiliary hinge shaft to pass therethrough". Based on factual evidence the examiner disagrees with such assertion. As clearly shown in figures 4-7, Wronski not only shows the cap (23) having a slot (29) and upper and lower through-holes (25) but also clearly points out that the cap is to "prevent binding" and "provide a low friction engagement with the base 11 while also providing good stability around the pivot point" (col. 2, line 60-col. 3, line 6). Applicant's argument is simply refuted.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
